

Editorial Note

NTUT Journal of Intellectual Property Law and Management is one of the first academic journals dedicated to intellectual property law and management in English to be published in Taiwan. Our goal is to encourage those interested in IP to publish the results of their research and express their ideas.

The issue features three articles and one report covering different aspects of the U.S. ITC rules, the economic model for the transfer of intellectual property, the gray area between privacy and IP law resulted from encryption technology, and the emerging legal issue of virtual reality.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to those who helped the issue of the Journal, especially for the reviewers and editors for their time, thoughtful advice and quick feedback.

We welcome your submissions, comments, and suggestions. The Journal can be contacted by email to ijournal@ntut.edu.tw.
